

MOODBOOK REK & INSPIRATION

A photograph of the ruins of Alvastra Monastery. The image shows several stone structures in various states of decay. In the foreground, there's a low, rectangular stone wall with a grassy top. Behind it, a larger building with a series of pointed arches stands. To the left, another structure with a single window opening is visible. The ruins are surrounded by green grass, and some trees with green leaves are in the upper part of the frame. The sky is overcast.
